

LOW FODMAP

QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE

EAT THIS (LOW FODMAP)

Foods listed in this column can generally be enjoyed as part of a Low FODMAP eating pattern.

FRUITS
- Strawberries
- Blueberries
- Kiwi
- Oranges
- Pineapple
- Grapes
- Cantaloupe
- Lemon
- Lime

VEGETABLES
- Spinach
- Lettuce
- Carrots
- Cucumbers
- Zucchini
- Bell peppers
- Green beans
- Tomatoes
- Bok choy

PROTEINS
- Chicken
- Turkey
- Fish
- Eggs
- Shrimp
- Firm tofu

GRAINS & STARCHES
- Rice
- Quinoa
- Oats
- Potatoes
- Rice noodles
- Corn tortillas

OTHER
- Olive oil
- Walnuts
- Chia seeds
- Lactose-free yogurt
- Hard cheeses

EAT THIS IN MODERATION

These foods may be tolerated in smaller portions depending on individual sensitivity.

FRUITS
- Banana
- Raspberries
- Blackberries
- Honeydew melon
- Grapefruit
- Passion fruit
- Pomegranate
- Cantaloupe

VEGETABLES
- Broccoli
- Sweet potato
- Pumpkin
- Eggplant
- Beetroot
- Butternut squash
- Cabbage
- Scallion greens

LEGUMES & GRAINS
- Canned chickpeas
- Canned lentils
- Tempeh
- Gluten-free bread
- Rolled oats
- Edamame
- Rice crackers

OTHER
- Almond milk
- Coconut milk
- Oat milk
- Hemp milk
- Soft cheeses
- Cottage cheese
- Greek yogurt (portion dependent)

NOT THAT (HIGH FODMAP)

These foods are commonly higher in FODMAPs and are typically limited during the elimination phase.

FRUITS
- Apples
- Pears
- Mango
- Watermelon
- Cherries
- Peaches

VEGETABLES
- Onion
- Garlic
- Cauliflower
- Asparagus
- Mushrooms
- Artichokes

DAIRY
- Milk
- Soft cheese
- Cottage cheese
- Ice cream

GRAINS & LEGUMES
- Wheat bread
- Regular pasta
- Couscous
- Barley
- Cashews

SWEETENERS
- Honey
- Agave syrup
- High-fructose corn syrup
- Sorbitol
- Mannitol
- Xylitol
- Maltitol

Reminder: Portion size matters. Some foods may be Low FODMAP in smaller servings but become higher in FODMAPs when larger amounts are consumed.